ESCAPED LEPER LODGES IN HOTE

John Early Lives Two Days in Fashionable Washington Hostelry.

Washington, June 3 .- Consternation ran riot Tuesday in the fashionable Shoreham hotel, where Vice President and Mrs. Marshall and other notables live, when it was discovered that John Early, the escaped leper, had been Hving there for two days.

Registers Under Assumed Name. Early registered at the hotel Sunday afternoon under the name of E. J. Weston of New York and has since been mingling freely with the guests, walking about the Washington streets, attending moving picture shows and enjoying the sights of the town. Tiring of the uneventful visit, however, ne telephoned the local health offices Tuesday morning of his presence and they arrested him in his hotel room and hustled him to his former isolation quarters in Anacostia. He is now occupying the same brick house built there for him six years ago. From Early's own account of his wanderings since he took French leave of the pubilc health station at Port Townsend on May 15, he spent part of the time in New York as a guest of the York notel. He arrived there on May 23 and remained until last Sunday, when he teft for Washington. Arriving at Washington Union station, he calmly took a taxicab and drove to the hotel, where he registered and was shown to his room without question. It is said by the health officials who are familiar with his case that the ravages of leprosy have made great inroads on him since his incarceration in Washington some years ago. Will Be Kept Isolated.

While formerly Early always denied vehemently that he was a leper, he pow freely admits a belief that he has the disease or something similar to it. His chief purpose appears to be to stir agitation about his case and bring about the establishment of a national eprosarium where unfortunates may he taken care of by the government. The future of Early in Washington is thorities. He will be kept isolated until final disposition of his case is board of education announced it would made. Since his former visit here comply with demands presented more Mr. Early has been divorced by his than eight months ago. wife, who stood loyally and faithfully by him during his Washington trials. brick house of isolation, their living The board will pay these increases for Health Officer Woodward was watching for Early's appearance in Washington. Early acted as a government guard for several other lepers and was under no particular restraint. John Early first attracted attention in 1908 when he was taken in charge in Washington and pronounced a leper.
